Technological competences

DELTA offers testing and consultancy within a wide range of fields including EMC, acoustics, reliability, sensory analysis, power and wireless technologies.

Technological consulting and test in one stop

We have designed our services within testing and technological consulting to meet the demands of our customers.

Tap into specialist knowledge to get cutting edge

You need access to the newest technological knowledge. You could read a dozen books, but would rather work with individuals, who possess this knowledge and at the same time understand your situation and needs.

Consultancy in all sizes

DELTA offers knowledge sharing and consulting in all our fields of expertise. Our services range from a few hours of high level technological consulting to long-term participation in your project.

Test to perform well in your market

Authorities demand it and your customers take it for granted: your product performs as it should. It is your responsibility to prove that your product meets demands specified in product standards, directives or maybe your customer's specification.

60 years' experience

DELTA offers 60 years of testing experience together with the national and international accreditations within our fields of expertise.
